

Exercise #2

Do Away with Clichés

Clichés are old and tired. We need to let them die a quiet death in the corner. It takes effort to be original but that's part of writing well. Push yourself on these.

Come up with another way to write: I got shivers down my spine.

Rewrite this sentence: It was as easy as pie.

Put a new twist on this one by rewriting it: I think there's more than meets the eye with this new car.
